

DEPARTMENT OF GEOGRAPHY
NALBARI COLLEGE, NALBARI
PIN-781335

- 1. Title of the event: Field survey on Periodic market
- 2. Venue: Periodic markets of Nalbari District
- 3. Date: 15-07-2018 to 30-07-2018
- 4. Programme Coordinator: Phatik Chandra Barman
Associate Prof. Department of Geography, Nalbari College, Nalbari
- 5. Report:

In countries like India, the rural market centres are the farmer's first contact point with the marketing channel. Therefore, rural markets are considered as the nerve-centers of the economic, social and cultural activities of rural life. The producer farmers not only depend on these markets for disposal of their produce for cash, but also for the procurement of agricultural inputs as well as for social contact. The study of the rural market is not only necessary to understand the economic structure of the region but also for unfolding the ecological relationship of the marketing activity. The periodic market-place, as an element of the spatial system, has been discussed by geographers in the form of spatiotemporal synchronization, market-place rings and their hierarchies. Considering the importance of periodic market in Indian economy, field survey on 05 periodic markets had been conducted by the 6th Sem Honours Students of Geography Department.

Photographs:

DEPARTMENT OF GEOGRAPHY
NALBARI COLLEGE, NALBARI, ASSAM

LIST OF B.A/B.SC 6TH SEM (HONOURS) STUDENTS, 2018
Field Work/Field visit to periodic markets in Nalbari District, Assam

Teacher In charge:

Phatik Chandra Barman
Associate Professor
Dept. of Geography
Nalbari College, Nalbari

SI No	Name of Students	Age	Gender
1.	Bhargav Sarma	19	Male
2.	Barasha Barman	19	Female
3.	Barasha Talukdar	20	Female
4.	Dipankar Bezbaruah	19	Male
5.	Dhiraj Baishya	19	Male
6.	Dipankar Baishya	19	Male
7.	Gourav Bikash Bhuyan	20	Male
8.	Himangshu Das	19	Male
9.	Jayanta Bezbaruah	20	Male
10.	Sourav Kumar Das	19	Male