Field studies are very much essential for visual insight into literature, culture, art, architecture, sculpture etc. Keeping these objectives in mind the P.G. students of Assamese department, Nalbari College were taken to the archaeological site of Sri Surjya Pahar located at Goalpara District on 4th March, 2023.

Sri Surjya Pahar is located about 12 k.m of south-east of Goalpara district of Assam. This archaeological site is surrounded by numerous rock cut idols and a long hill with Shivalingas. Apart from Hindu Shivalingas it has been observed here the idols of Buddhist stupas and Jain Tirthankaras. According to ancient legend, people have found 99999 Shivalingas were engraved here by Vyasha in order to build up a second Kashi.

Till now no scientific calculation has been done on various sizes of Shivalingas available here. For which no one knows how many of them are still in intact status. It is expected that a detailed research on about this subject will explore various political and religious aspects of Assam.
